Recovery Coach Professional© – RCP

The CT Community for Addiction Recovery (CCAR) has established a Recovery Coach Professional© designation to elevate the standard for recovery coaches worldwide. Over the years, CCAR has learned that recovery coach certifications focus only on the science. Prospective coaches must accumulate a certain number of training hours, serve a number of hours in the role while being “supervised” and finally the applicant must pass a written test. Does this process adequately answer the question,

"Is this the best way to determine if the applicant has all the necessary skills to serve as an effective recovery coach?"

The Recovery Coach Professional© designation is slightly different. CCAR believes deeply in the science too. However, there is more a credentialing body can do to accurately assess an individual's skill. We are bringing back the live interview process. The RCP© designation process still requires 60 hours of training and a resume and/or history of addiction recovery experience. To earn the Recovery Coach Professional© designation, the applicant must pass a rigorous, live interview process by a panel of their peers. There is no written test.

CCAR defines a Recovery Coach as anyone interested in promoting recovery by removing barriers and obstacles to recovery by serving as a personal guide and mentor for people seeking or in recovery. In keeping in line with the three tenants of the CCAR Recovery Coach Academy© we feel a Recovery Coach Professional© must not only have the skills outlined in our training programs, but must possess the art of Recovery Coaching by demonstrating the ability to:

1. Actively Listening
2. Ask good Questions
3. Manage their own stuff

The Application Process

In order to be qualified to become designated, candidates must complete three stages of the application process.

Step 1: Candidates will have completed the following training programs:

Course:	Timeframe:	Hours:
CCAR Recovery Coach Academy©	Within the past two (2) years	30 Contact Hours/CEUs
CCAR Ethical Considerations for Recovery Coaches©	Within the past two (2) years	16 Contact Hours/CEUs
Plus
Any other CCAR Training Program	Within the past two (2) years	14 hours/CEUs
Or
Any CCAR Approved Training Program*	Within the past two (2) years	14 hours/CEUs

For a total of 60 Hours of Training

Step 2: Candidates will describe their interest through a resume and/or a summary of their addiction recovery experience relevant to Recovery Coaching.

Step 3: Candidates will sit through a phone interview with a panel of CCAR Leadership and RCP© Designees.

All candidates will be notified by email if they have not made it into the next stage of the application process. Reasons why will be outlined, so interested candidates can reapply. Candidates who do not receive certification after completing all 3 stages of the application process will be given the opportunity to reapply six months (6) after their interview date.

*Trainings can be submitted for preapproval to chenay@ccar.us. You must include the training organization, learning objectives and the total hours of contact units in order for the training to be preapproved.

Code of Ethics and Conduct for Recovery Coach Professional (RCP)©

The purpose of this Code of Ethics and Conduct is to outline the beliefs, values, and practices for those seeking and/or holding the Recovery Coach Professional (RCP)© Designation provided by CCAR. This Code shall serve as a guide for RCPs© by defining professional responsibility and ethical standards for this role.

Recovery Coach Professionals (RCP)© promote recovery by serving as a personal guide and removing barriers to recovery for people seeking or already in recovery. The focus is always on the individual. The goal of the Recovery Coach Professional (RCP)© is to help individuals reach their full potential in recovery. To that end, Recovery Coach Professionals (RCP)© must maintain high standards of ethics and personal conduct.

Serving as a Motivator and Cheerleader, Ally and Confidant, Truth-Teller, Role-Model, Problem-Solver, Resource Broker, Advocate, Community Organizer, Life Style Consultant, Friend and Companion, Recovery Coach Professionals (RCP)© will be skilled at “staying in their lane” and refer individuals to appropriate services as needed.

Recovery Coach Professionals (RCP)© are to work collaboratively with other coaches, find appropriate supports for supervision and continue their own professional development.

A Recovery Coach Professional (RCP)© will have an understanding and demonstrate the following through their service:

- All individuals are unique and have special needs, goals, health attitudes and behaviors and expectations for recovery.
- Persons in recovery from alcohol or drug addiction share some similarities, however, management of their own lives and mastery of their own futures will require different pathways at times.
- All persons should be offered equal access to recovery and have the opportunity to participate in their recovery process.
- All persons are to be treated with dignity and respect.
- All persons deserve the right to privacy and confidentiality regarding their recovery journey.
- An appropriate use of sharing personal stories.
- The focus of the relationships are for the individual being served and not for personal gain.
- As representatives of people in recovery, our actions influence how the community sees the recovery movement.

- Work to advocate for those in our service, especially those who feel they have no voice.
- Respect the cultural diversity of the people we serve.
- Acknowledge our own biases.
- Treat persons in our care as resources.
- Maintain personal recovery, if applicable
- Do no harm.
- Carry hope to individuals, families and communities.
- Improve yourself; Give your best.
- Accurately represent your recovery experience and the role from which you are speaking.
- Keep your promises.
- Focus on the positive – strengths, assets, and possibilities rather than problems and pathology.
- Honor each other's potential.
- Enhance choices and choice making.
- Use resources wisely.
- Always serve as an ambassador for CCAR, and more importantly the recovery community.

Please attest to the following:

I, _____, will abide by and provide Recovery Coaching services that align with the above code of Ethics and Conduct. Failure to do so may result in a suspension and/or termination of my status as a CCAR RCP©.

I am aware that complaints made against me will be reviewed by a committee made up of CCAR Leadership and peers who will determine if further action is necessary. I will have an opportunity at such time to provide evidence to the contrary. If it is deemed that I have acted outside the level of excellence outlined above, I may be subject to suspension, and/or termination. If suspended and/or terminated, I will not be refunded for any part of the fee I paid to be certified.
